NOTES IN SEASON.

HERBERT S. STONE & CO., of Chicago, will publish Chatfield Taylor's series of articles on Spain, which have appeared in The Cosmopolitan. In book-form the work will show several changes, and will appear under the title of "The Land of the Castinet."

BRENTANO's have nearly ready "Short-Suit Whist," by Val. W. Starnes. It is founded upon the principle of leading originally from short weak suits instead of long strong ones, and definite directions are given which will enable partners easily to read each others' hands.

MERRILL & BAKER call attention to their Illustrated Cabinet Editions of George Eliot in 24 volumes, Thackeray in 20 volumes, and Charles Dickens in 30 volumes. These are printed at University Press, on Dickinson's Croxley Mills paper, are of handy size, and have ornamental cover stamped from special designs. Each volume is sold separately.

A. S. BARNES & CO. have now in press a new edition Mrs. Burton Harrison has edited for them of the late Mrs. Lamb's "History of New York," Mrs. Harrison will add a chapter on the externals of the modern city, taking up the narrative where Mrs. Lamb left off and bringing it down to date. This edition will be issued in three octavo volumes, containing all the illustrations in the first edition and many additional ones for the new chapter. The first printing of the new edition will be limited to the number of copies ordered in advance. The first volume will be ready September 1.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce "Camping in the Canadian Rockies," an account of camp-life in the wilder parts of the Canadian Rocky Mountains, and a sketch of the early explorations, by Walter Dwight Wilcox, with twenty-five full-page photogravures and many illustrations in the text from photographs by the author; and "The Hastings Chess Tournament Book," containing the full official record of the 320 games played by twenty-two competitors at this latest international congress, annotated by a distinguished body of experts, including in their number eight prize-winners, and also giving biographical sketches of twenty-two players, with portraits and autographs of each, and 200 diagrams of situations.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY is about to add to its valuable medical list "Deformities." A treatise on orthopædic surgery, intended for practitioners and advanced students, by A. H. Tubby, M.S., Lond., F.R.C.S. Eng., illustrated with fifteen plates and three hundred and two figures, of which two hundred are original, and by notes of one hundred cases. This volume is the outcome of several years' work at the hospitals to which the author is attached. Almost all the cases quoted are from his note-books, and two hundred of the illustrations have been drawn from his patients especially for this work. It has been his endeavor to make himself acquainted, by direct observations, with the methods of treatment practised in orthopædic clinics abroad as well as at home, so that most of the details have been personally verified.

ROBERTS BROTHERS will publish September 1 "The Puritan in England and New England," by Ezra Hoyt Byington, with an introduction by Dr. Alexander McKenzie, a book originating in papers on allied topics read before several historical societies; a third series of "Emily Dickinson's Poems"; and another volume in their Balzac novels, entitled "The Lesser Bourgeoisie." In the Keynotes Series there will be "Day-Books," chronicles of good and evil, by Mabel E. Wotton; and "In Scarlet and Gray," stories of soldiers and others, by Florence Henniker; including "The Spectre of the Real," by Thomas Hardy and Florence Henniker (in collaboration), a sombre but singularly striking story; "Old Colony Days" will be the work of May Alden Ward; and "My Lady's Heart," by Ellis Markoe, is said to be a story of rare simplicity and grace. The Roberts also call attention that they have reduced the price on their edition of "George Meredith's Novels"; and also on John Morley's "Life of Richard Cobden."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Appleton's European guide-book: complete guide to the continent of Europe, Egypt, Algeria, and the Holy Land. N. Y., Appleton, 1896. 2 v., map, il. 12°, flex. mor., $5; or separately, per v., $3. [2676

Arnold, Matthew. Alaric at Rome, and other poems; with an introd. by R: Garnett. N. Y., Ward, Lock & Bowden, Ltd., 1896. 25+339 p. por. D. (Nineteenth century classics.) cl., $1. [2677

Contains the contents of Arnold's first four volumes—"Alaric," "Cromwell," "The strayed reveller," and "Empedocles on Etna"—and that portion of the fifth volume which had not previously appeared in the earlier volumes. To these has been added the sonnet "to the Hungarian nation," which first appeared in the Examiner for 1849, and which has never hitherto been reprinted. The original arrangement of the poem has been observed in each case. See note under Carlyle, T:, "Sartor resartus."

Bohner, W. B. The time is coming. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1896. c. 3-282 p. D. cl., $1. [2678

A tale founded upon the belief, entertained by the ancient Jews and by some Christian divines, that the prophet Elijah, having never died, will return in proper person to herald the second advent. In the story Elijah is represented as appearing in Jerusalem, and afterward in New York, where he finds a coadjutor in a clergyman who had for years been laboring at reform in his own way but without much success.

Bonavia, E., M.D. Studies in the evolution of animals. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1896. 34+362 p. il. sq. O. cl., $6. [2679

Carlyle, T: Sartor resartus: the life and opinions of Herr Teufelsdröckh; with an introd. by E: Dowden. N. Y., Ward, Lock & Bowden, Ltd., 1896. 30+344 p. por. D. (Nineteenth century classics.) cl., $1. [2687

The first of a series edited by Clement K. Shorter. Each volume will be furnished with an introduction and critical apparatus by a competent authority. The present volume contains as prefatory matter an introduction by Prof. Dowden, John Sterling's letter to Carlyle on "Sartor resartus" and a Carlyle chronology.

Coffin, Victor. The province of Quebec and the early American Revolution: a study in English-American colonial history. Madison, Wis., published by the University of Wisconsin, 1896. 17+275-562 p. O. (Bulletin of the university, economics, political science, and history ser., v. 1, no. 3.) pap., 75 c. [2688

List of the author's sources of information covers five pages—no attempt being made to furnish a complete bibliography. The main study is based almost entirely on the manuscript copies of British state papers in the Canadian archives.

Converse, Frank H. The lost gold-mine. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1896. c. 354 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [2689

At the opening of the story the hero, by a singular circumstance, finds himself in possession of certain papers relating to a gold-mine in the far west. The location of the mine is not clearly indicated, but he and his chum conclude to make a search for it; later on they are joined by a practical miner, and the party begins the search in earnest. After many privations and dangers the mine is found.

Conygham, Dane. Eunice Quince: a New England romance. [New ed.] N. Y., [American Publishers Corporation, 1896.] c. '95. 362 p. D. (Fortnightly ser., no. 6.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c. [2690

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., December 21, 1895, [1247.]

Cornish, W: W. M. Behind plastered walls: a novel. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1896. c. 3-228 p. D. cl., $1. [2691

A story of American scenes and characters.

Craddock, Florence Nightingale. Edgar Fairfax: a story of West Point. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1896. c. 3-203 p. D. (Dillingham's metropolitan lib., no. 17.) pap., 50 c. [2692

A story dealing with the divorce evil. The hero is a Virginian who marries a German actress, just as he is entering West Point. Fearing the disapproval of his family he keeps his marriage secret. In a little while, tiring of his wife, he gets a divorce from her.

 In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received.* Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

He falls in love with another woman, a rich Baltimore belle, who is visiting West Point, and becomes engaged to her; as she thinks divorce is wrong he conceals his past life from her. A jealous woman reveals the story and there are some dramatic events.

Culbertson, Anne Virginia. Lays of a wandering minstrel. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1896. c. 180 p. D. cl., $1. [2693

Miscellaneous poems, a few lyrics and sonnets, "trifles light as air," and a few dialect poems.

Dakota, South and North. Annot. statutes and rules of trial practice and appellate procedure, embracing issues, trials, exceptions, bills of exception and statement of case, new trials, [etc.;] by C: Edmund De Land. Pierre, Carter Pub. Co., 1896. c. 38+581 p. O. shp., $6. [2694

Deland, Ellen Douglas. Malvern: a neighborhood story; il. by Alice Barber Stevens. Bost., W. A. Wilde & Co., [1896.] c. 341 p. D. cl., $1 50. [2695

Malvern is a small country town in New Jersey, not far from the city of New York. It furnished a queer assortment of boys and girls. The coming of Sarah Cabot, a young southern girl of fifteen, to board at the house of the Seymours and attend school with Winny Seymour is the first event which agitates a group of bright young people. Their further doings and sayings are carefully reported.

Denison, Mary A. An every-day heroine: a story for girls; il. by Ida Waugh. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1896. c. 329 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [2696

The heroine is a winsome, earnest girl of fourteen, who is suddenly bereft of fortune and father, and becomes the chief support of a semi-invalid mother. While there are many touching scenes, the story as a whole is bright and cheerful.

Dickinson, Mrs. Ellen E. The King's daughters. N. Y., American Publishers Corporation, [1896.] c. '88. 5+275 p. D. (Series of American novels, no. 31.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2697

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., December 6, 1890, [984.]

Dorr, Mrs. Julia C. Ripley. A cathedral pilgrimage. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1896. 18°, (Miniature ser.) cl., 75 c. [2698

Doudney, Sarah. A vanished hand. Bost., A. I. Bradley & Co., [1896.] 3+193 p. S. cl., $1. [2699

A posthumous manuscript found in an old desk in a London lodging-house excites the interest of Elsie Kilner, who, feeling that her life is purposeless, and that she is spiritually guided by the dead writer, begins a search for the child whose history is told in the paper. The failures and successes of this quest and Elsie's love-story are given.

Drysdale, W: The fast mail: the story of a train-boy; il. by C: Copeland. Bost., W. A. Wilde & Co., [1896.] c. 328 p. D. (Brain and brawn ser.) cl., $1.50. [2700

The story of Bert Walker, who sold books and candies on the fast mail train between New York City and Florida. His attention to business and his many good qualities as an ordinary train-boy get him promoted to this position, where he makes many friends and from which he rises still higher. He has numerous adventures on his train, which is "held up," narrowly escapes a collision, etc.

Frederic, Harold. March hares. N. Y., Appleton, 1896. c. 3+281 p. S. cl., $1.25. [2701

Mr. David Mosscrop was lounging against the low stone parapet of Westminster Bridge, on the morning of his thirtieth birthday, after a night spent in debauch, and meditating suicide, when upon his vision dawned a beautiful young woman whom he had often seen in the British Museum reading-room. He speaks to her and in a short time learns her story; she is homeless, penniless, and hungry. He buys her shoes and gives her a breakfast and spends his birthday roaming in the country with her. This is the beginning of a pretty, cheerful story that ends with a wedding.

Gibney, Dr. —. Eighty years ago; or, the recollections of an old army doctor, his adventures on the fields of Quatre Bras and Waterloo and during the occupation of Paris, 1815; by the late Dr. Gibney, of Cheltenham; ed. by his son, Major Gibney. N. Y., New Amsterdam Book Co., 1896. 8+250 p. 8°, cl., $1.75. [2702

Gladstone, W: E. Studies subsidiary to the works of Bishop Butler. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1896. 12°, cl., net, $2. [2703

Goodwin, H. B. Azimuth tables for the higher declinations (limits of declination 24° to 30° both inclusive) between the parallels of latitude 0° and 60°; with examples of the use of the tables in English and French. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1896. 11+74 p. O. cl., $2.50. [2704

Graydon, W: Murray. In the days of Washington: a story of the American Revolution. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1896. c. 319 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [2705

The story opens in Philadelphia just prior to its evacuation by the British in 1778. Nathan Stanbury, a bright lad of seventeen, is fired with the spirit of the times, and after acting as courier to General Washington joins the Continental Army at Valley Forge; later the Battle of Monmouth is fought, and in this the young hero figures, as he does afterward at the Massacre of Wyoming.

Griffith, B. L. C. By the light of the fire: a collection of short stories. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1896. c. 273 p. il. S. cl., $1. [2706

Contents: The ribbon of gold; For home, for freedom, fatherland; For her sake; The man from Nowhere; Dad's little feller; The phases of the honeymoon.

Griffith, B. L. C., [and others.] Monologues and novelties. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1896. c. 211 p. S. cl., 50 c.; pap., 30 c. [2707

Entertainments varying in length from five to twenty-five minutes. Besides Mr. Griffith's seven monologues, there are given a shadow pantomime, a Chinese wedding, the Gilbert play of "Pygmalion and Galatea," etc., etc.

Guizot, François Pierre Guillaume. General history of civilization in Europe; ed. with critical and supplementary notes by G: Wells Knight. N. Y., Appleton, 1896. c. 1842-96. 22+403 p. 12°, cl., $1.50. [2708

Hunt, Randell. Selected arguments, lectures, and miscellaneous papers of Randell Hunt; ed. by his nephew, W: H: Hunt. New Orleans, La., F. F. Hansell & Bro., 1896. 76+345 p. D. cl., $2. [2709

The name of Randell Hunt was for a half century, from 1832 to 1882, identified with many of the chief events in the history of the southern states. He was a constitutional lawyer of reputation and learning and a professor of law in the University of Louisiana. Some of the names of papers given are: A court, a temple of justice; An historical discourse upon the United States; The Louisiana returning board of 1876; Citizenship and allegiance; Political affairs in Louisiana; The rights of the states; The Louisiana state lottery; The Republican party in Louisiana; Counting the electoral vote.

Hutchinson, J: Wallace. Story of the Hutchinsons (Tribe of Jesse); comp. and ed. by C: E. Mann; with introd. by F: Douglass. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1896. c. 2 v., 18+495; 7+416 p. por. il. O. cl., $5. [2710

The Hutchinson family during over fifty years, from 1839 to 1892, bore an important part in the history of the country, singing for abolition, temperance, woman suffrage, and all other moral reforms. They were often mobbed, driven from large cities by proslavery officials, and had various exciting and strange experiences. There were thirteen members of this family of singers known to the public. They came in contact not only with the great people of this country but of Europe. Their stories are here told with a mass of interesting anecdotes and descriptive matter concerning many of the most important incidents in the life of the nation for half a century.

Jamison, Mrs. Celia V. Seraph, the little violiniste; il. by Frank T. Merrill. Bost., W. A. Wilde & Co., [1896.] c. 298 p. D. cl., $1.50. [2711

A story with its scene in New Orleans, by the author of "Lady Jane," "Toinette's Philip," etc. "Seraph" is a little girl with a passionate love for music which finds expression in violin-playing. Her mother had been a professional singer, but losing her voice resorts to making artificial flowers for a living. They are waited upon and cared for by an old negro servant. Next door to them lives Monsieur Nardi, a bookseller with a little adopted boy. The bookseller is their friend through many bitter experiences.

Jayne, R. H. The golden rock. N. Y., American Publishers Corporation, [1896.] c. 3+315 p. 1 il. D. (St. Nicholas ser. for boys and girls.) cl., 50 c. [2712

A story of life among the Sioux; for boys.

Jenness, Theodora R. Above the range: a story for girls; il. by G: Gibbs. Bost., W. A. Wilde & Co., [1896.] c. 332 p. D. cl., $1.25. [2713

An Indian story for girls. A mission school for the daughters of the Dakota tribes is interestingly described. The strange ideas and beliefs of these wild people are woven into the thread of the story, which tells how a little white girl was brought up as an Indian child, educated at a mission school, and was finally discovered by her parents.

Johnson, Mrs. Clarke. Her college days: a story for girls; il. by Ida Waugh. Phil., Penn Publishing Co., 1896. c. 336 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [2714

A healthful tale of a girl's life in a New England college.

Jones, F: Robertson. History of taxation in Connecticut, 1636–1776. Balt., Md., The Johns Hopkins Press, 1896. c. 71 p. O. (Johns Hopkins University studies, 14th ser., no. 8.) pap., 50 c. [2715

Lea, H: C: A history of auricular confession and indulgences in the Latin church. In 3 v. V. 3, Indulgences. Phil., Lea Bros. & Co., 1896. c. 8+629 p. O. cl., $3. [2721

Traces the origin of indulgences, their development through the influence of the crusades and the jubilee and the evolution of the doctrine of purgatory, and the methods of their sale, which brought to the church such enormous revenue. Incidentally are described the evolution of the most curious legends of the Middle Ages. The Lutheran revolt is treated in its relation with the subject as also the counter Reformation. Then follow chapters on the enlarged use of indulgences in modern times for acts of devotion, such as the rosary and prayers and ejaculations, and for confraternities and sodalities, as well as the pardons attached to beads, medals, crosses, etc., and those promised for visits to churches, etc.

This is not in any sense a revision of the author's "The complete phonographer," published some years ago, but an entirely new book. While it teaches the original Munson system of phonography, substantially as it was presented at the beginning, it introduces certain modifications and additions. The plan of the book is as follows: After the introduction the matter is divided into four parts: 1, Simple-stems; 2, Compound-stems (covering stems with hooks and the shortening and lengthening principles); 3, Circles and loops, and 4, Abbreviation, word-forms, etc.

The story of a man, young, handsome, and rich, who had wearied of everything, after a fast, wasteful life. He retires to an isolated spot in the North Carolina mountains to recuperate, and there meets a girl, refreshingly sweet and innocent, who appealed to his fancy, and who was later given to him by her poor and illiterate old parents to do with as he pleased. The story reveals how this man of the world and the possessor of a not unimpeachable reputation discharged this trust.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 22, 1896.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE ACCOUNTING OF PUBLISHERS TO AUTHORS.

IT is undoubtedly the prerogative of an author to distrust his publisher, if he is so minded, and it is undoubtedly good law, as the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court has just decided, that an author who is to be paid by royalties has the right to require full proof of sales, etc., if he is not satisfied of the truth of the accountings made to him. This is the gist of the case of Savage versus Neely, which is just now occupying the time of the courts and, because of the foolish conduct of those concerned, much space in the sensational columns of the daily press. The conduct of the case unfortunately reminds one of those in which actresses are engaged, under cover of a diamond robbery or a breach of promise suit, to obtain gratuitous advertising and attract public attention and patronage.

The plaintiff is the author of eleven sensational novels, of which the publisher states that 145,000 copies have been printed and bound, including 46,000 now on hand or subject to return. This shows a sale probably exceeding 100,000 copies, but the ephemeral character of the sale is suggested by the further statement that the total sales for June of this year were eighteen copies and for July eight copies. These are, of course, the statements of the publisher, which are questioned by the author. The case is cited as parallel to that of Bourget versus Lemaire, in France, to which some notoriety has been given. The law in the case is so definite that it seems astonishing that Justice Beach should have made the decision against granting the author facilities for examination, which has been reversed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. It is common sense, as well as common law, that any person who is paid by the piece and does not have a chance to count the pieces for himself, as the ordinary workman does, should be given —by the courts, if necessary—every possible facility to make sure of the honesty of his agent, the publisher, unless he specifically contracts himself out of that right by accepting the publisher's statement in advance in his contract.

As a matter of fact this question is in practice of small importance. No reputable publisher would be so dishonest or so foolish as to lie or perjure himself, directly or by proxy, in this matter of accounting to authors for royalties on their books. There will be to the end of time unreputable publishers, usually of mushroom growth, who will take mean advantages, and who will even produce false accounts, as, if they were in the grocery business, they would sand the sugar or cheat their customers otherwise. But such men have little staying-power in the book trade, and it has been the mistake of the Authors' Society in London, and of the organizations here patterned upon it, to assume that such practices are the general methods of the publishing trade. No calling demands higher standards as a condition of success, and we believe that, on the whole, no relations are more straightforward, honest, and satisfactory than those between publishers as a class and authors as a class. The exceptions will only prove the rule.

JOSEPH B. BISHOP, in an interesting article on the "Social and Economic Influence of the Bicycle" in the August issue of The Forum, makes the astounding statement that "one great news-agency in New York City, which deals in books and periodicals of all kinds, says its total loss in trade this year from bicycle competition is no less than a million dollars." Mr. Bishop has collected statistics to prove that less than five years ago, at least $100,000,000 have been spent in the purchase of bicycles in the United States alone. The output for the present year is computed at from 750,000 to 1,000,000 machines, at an average retail price of $80 each. Obviously, a million people cannot buy bicycles at the average price named and continue to supply themselves with as many other things as they would otherwise have bought. However, while some of the economical effects of the widely extended use of the bicycle will no doubt be lasting, others are certain to be transitory. People are not going to get on permanently without pianos, watches, or books because they ride upon bicycles. As soon as a given community becomes stocked with bicycles and the changes and improvements in them once become unimportant, money will begin to flow back into some of its former channels.

F. TENNYSON NEELY SUED BY RICHARD HENRY SAVAGE.

THE differences between Col. Richard Henry Savage, the author, and his publisher, Frank Tennyson Neely, were made the subject on August 19 of an examination of the defendant, F. Tennyson Neely, before trial.

The examination was requested for the purpose of compelling the defendant to produce his books and papers, showing by whom Col. Savage's books were printed, how many had been sold and to whom, the amount received for them, the number of books on hand, the number of damaged books returned, and the amount of all charges and claims against the plaintiff and the nature of the same.

The examination was held in Part II. of the Supreme Court and lasted until noon. The books produced by Mr. Neely did not, however, afford the requisite data, nor did the questioning of plaintiff's counsel elicit the desired information. The proceedings were marked by total absence of dignity, and the details are now affording the daily papers material for "smart" writing.

After the recess Mr. Smith took the matter to the Supreme Court before Justice Stover, and said that Mr. Neely had been guilty of contempt of court in that he had had over a month in which to produce the books and had failed to do so. He read the answers to several questions that had been made by Mr. Neely, and reminded the Justice that the order had specifically stated that all books and papers should be submitted by the defendant at this examination. Mr. Stayton said that his client had tried his best to bring all the pertinent matter to the examination, but that he had been unable to accomplish this. The Justice granted the plaintiff leave to move at Special Term No. 1 to punish the defendant for contempt. This permission was accepted, and the examination was adjourned until September 2 at 10:30 o'clock, in Part II. of the Supreme Court.

In the pending action Col. Savage seeks to recover royalties which he says are due him on books sold and for services of a literary nature rendered to the defendant, in all amounting to $12,000; also to recover the electrotype plates of ten novels now in the possession of the defendant, or the value thereof, and to obtain the nullification of the contract between himself and the publisher. This contract, or agreement, according to the complaint, was made Sept. 14, 1893, and was to run for two years.

The motion for an examination of the defendant before trial was denied by Justice Beach on June 29 in Special Term of the Supreme Court. The matter was taken to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, and the order of Justice Beach was reversed and the order for the examination of the defendant was granted. C. Bainbridge Smith is counsel for Col. Savage, and W. H. Stayton, of Burnett, Stayton & Hagen, for Mr. Neely.

This case is said to be the first in this country where an examination before trial has been asked for by an author, and is analogous to the case of Paul Bourget in the French courts, in which that author brought suit against the Maison Lemerre, his publishers, to recover royalties, the details of which were given in our issues of February 15 and June 27.

The following statement has been made by F. Tennyson Neely:

Few authors can gracefully accept the fate to which most are doomed who indulge in writing sensational stories, and Mr. Richard Henry Savage has not proved an exception to the rule.

Within the past two years I have published eleven various novels by the effervescent Mr. Savage, which at first could not be forced upon the reading public. Mr. Savage has appealed to the courts for an accounting, which he finds the same as I have rendered him each month under the contract.

Mr. Savage has sought to influence public opinion by making misleading statements to reporters, delivering speeches in public places, and before the Authors' Guild, which seem at variance with facts. For the information of the public I make this true statement:

Total number of books printed and bound to date, 145,000.

Royalties paid Mr. Savage on 125,000.

Books on hand unsold and with the trade on sale, subject to return, 46,000.

With eleven novels published, the total sales for June, 1896, were eighteen copies, for July, 1896, eight copies. The trade returned in June and July, 1896, 1474 books.

Accounts have been rendered each thirty days according to contract, and the sales accounts and all records have been open for the inspection of Mr. Savage or his attorneys, both of whom have declined to make such examination, although repeatedly requested and urged to do so.

Mr. Savage's account is overpaid $726.32 as per statement rendered him, and increase each month as the returns come in from dealers.

I have directed my attorneys to bring suit to recover the amount overpaid Mr. Savage, and to institute a slander suit for $50,000 against C. Bainbridge Smith (Col. Savage's lawyer).

Publishers, booksellers, and newsdealers are warned against purchasing or selling any books except as provided for in my contract.

My attorneys will at once bring suit against Rand, McNally & Co. for publishing certain books by Mr. Savage contrary to my contract.

F. TENNYSON NEELY.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

N. Y. NEWSDEALERS' AND STATIONERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

NOT the least successful of the many enjoyable annual summer festivals that the members of the New York Newsdealers' and Stationers' Protective and Benevolent Association can recall was that which was held on the evening of August 13, at Lion Park, in New York City. The test of the popularity of these festivals is found in the large numbers who attend them, and on this occasion there were not less than a thousand persons present.

The large dancing-hall in the gaily decorated and illuminated park was the centre, from 9 o'clock until an early hour next morning, of an uninterrupted course of merriment. For the more sedate and older members of the association, and for those who found the sultriness of the weather a sufficient excuse for forsaking their obligations in the ball-room, other pleasing divertisement was provided.

All the officers of the association were present. They included Thomas F. Martin, president; Daniel P. Brophy, vice-president; B. Beekman, recording secretary; Burnett Haag, financial secretary; James P. Mack, treasurer; and J. F. Eck, sergeant-at-arms. The committee to whose care the arrangements of the festival were intrusted were D. P. Brophy, chairman; T. F. Martin, Alexander Beggs, W. Allen, F. Schlegel, J F. Eck, W. Dugan, J. J. Jackson, J. P. Mack, John E. McBride, T. F. Horan, and H. Malkan.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BOOKSELLERS, NEWSDEALERS, AND STATIONERS.

THE thirteenth annual convention of the National Association of Booksellers, Newsdealers, and Stationers, which was called for August 11, to meet in Boston, has been postponed to October 6–7.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MARY ABIGAIL DODGE.

MISS MARY ABIGAIL DODGE, better known under her pen-name of "Gail Hamilton," died at her home in Hamilton, Mass., on the 17th inst., of paralysis. Miss Dodge had sustained a previous paralytic shock some time before, but had, it was thought, fully recovered her usual health. As "Gail Hamilton" she was one of the best known women writers of the country, and the pungent productions of her pen have covered a wide range of literature. She was of New England stock, and was born in Hamilton, Mass., about 1830. In 1851 she became a teacher in the Hartford (Conn.) High School, and later entered the family of Dr. Gamaliel Bailey, of Washington, as governess. Dr. Bailey was the proprietor of the Washington National Era, and it was in that paper in which Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" first appeared that she made her first essay as a writer. In 1865–67 she was one of the editors of Our Young Folks, a children's magazine, published in Boston. Her first book, "Country Living and Country Thinking," appeared in 1862, and from then till 1875 she had published, among others, "Gala Days," "A New Atmosphere," "Stumbling Blocks," "Skirmishes and Sketches," "Red Letter Days in Applethorpe," "Summer Rest," "Wool Gathering," "Woman's Wrongs," "A Counter Irritant," "Battle of the Books," "Twelve Miles from a Lemon," and "Nursery Noonings." Though always keeping her home in Hamilton, Miss Dodge lived much of the time since 1876 in Washington, in the Blaine household. She was a cousin of Mrs. Blaine, was always regarded as one of the family, and was one of Mr. Blaine's warmest political supporters. Since Mr. Blaine's death she had been engaged on the history of his life, for which task she was fitted by long association and the possession of his personal letters and papers, and her arduous work is believed to have undermined her health. Miss Dodge's writings were always witty, pungent, and aggressive, and they ranged from descriptions of country life to politics, civil-service reform, education, and religion. Her pen-name was a combination of the last syllable of her middle name and the name of her birthplace. Her most notable work of late years was her indefatigable but fruitless endeavor to secure the release of Mrs. Maybrick, imprisoned in England on the charge of poisoning her husband. Besides the books previously named, she had published: "Woman's Worth and Worthlessness" (1871); "Little Folk Life" (1872); "Child World" (1872–3); "Sermons to the Clergy" and "First Love is Best" (1875); "What Think Ye of Christ?" (1876); "Our Common School System" (1880); "Divine Guidance, Memorial of Allen W. Dodge" (1881); and "The Insuppressible Book" (1885).

SIR JOHN E. MILLAIS, the famous artist, died at his home in Palace Gate, Kensington, London, August 13. He was born in Southampton in 1829. Since February 20 last he has been president of the Royal Academy of England.

PROF. HUBERT A. NEWTON, of Yale, died in New Haven, Conn., August 12. Prof. Newton was born in Sherburne, N. Y., March 19, 1830. His scientific work in pure mathematics included researches "On the Construction of Certain Curves by Points," "Certain Transcendental Curves," and similar papers, but his most valuable investigations were in connection with meteors and like bodies.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Critic for August 15 gives a list of the principal works of fiction published since the beginning of the year.

MAX PEMBERTON, the author of "The Iron Pirate" and other thrilling tales of adventure, has been made editor of Cassell's Family Magazine.

The Illustrated American for August 15 has an instructive and most timely contribution from Francis Bellamy, entitled "The Ten Kinds of Money Uncle Sam Uses."

P. F. COLLIER, the publisher and proprietor of Once a Week, has assumed the editorship of that periodical, and a degree of excellence is looked for in keeping with the arrangement.

The Literary News for September will contain a list of books published since 1890, dealing with the gold and silver question, with a list of popular books on problems which have led to the present political situation.

THE three autumn numbers of Scribner's Magazine will have frontispieces printed in gold and colors. They reproduce allegorical designs made by E. H. Blashfield for a golden piano owned by Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel.

McClure's Magazine for September will contain the first report ever published of Abraham Lincoln's famous "Lost Speech," delivered at Bloomington, before the first Republican State Convention held in Illinois, and a short personal study of the artist, James McNeil Whistler.

THE NEW YORK TIMES PUBLISHING COMPANY, proprietor of The New York Times, has been reorganized. The new organization assumed the ownership on August 18. Adolph S. Ochs, of Chattanooga, Tenn., in the interest of the new owners, becomes the publisher and general manager. Charles R. Miller will continue to be the editor.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE approaching marriage is announced of Maurice Maeterlinck to the sister of Maurice Leblanc, a Parisian journalist.

SAMUEL L. CLEMENS (Mark Twain) was suddenly summoned to return to America, owing to the dangerous illness of his oldest daughter. He sailed on Saturday, August 15, on the City of Paris, but will reach his home in Hartford to be met with the sad news that Miss Olivia Susan Clemens died in her father's house on Tuesday, August 18. Miss Clemens had a fine soprano voice, and was fitting herself for grand opera. It had been her dream and ambition to recoup her father's fortunes by her voice.

A TABLET of brass was placed in the Town Hall in Ashfield, Mass., on August 12, in memory of George William Curtis. The inscription upon the tablet was written by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton, the life-long friend of Mr. Curtis. The exercises, under the auspices of the Curtis Club, were marked by an absence of strict formality, and by a love for the man whose memory is honored by the tablet. They took place in the Town Hall, and were attended by a large audience of townspeople, and people from the summer colony as well. Archibald D. Flower presided and made the opening address, voicing for the club the affection and esteem in which Mr. Curtis was held. The presentation address was made by Prof. Norton.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

A CATALOGUE of the stock which the Baker & Taylor Company recently purchased of Charles T. Dillingham & Co., is in preparation and will contain from 24 to 32 pages, and give several hundred titles.

A. C. MCCLURG & CO. issue "A List of Books on the Money Question," giving 119 titles. It is divided into six parts: 1, Books favorable to gold (37 titles); 2, favoring international bimetallism (5 titles); 3, favorable to silver (29 titles); 4, a history of currency (21 titles); 5, on banking (14 titles); 6, on public debts (2 titles). The titles are very full, and the editor has furnished exhaustive foot-notes explaining the nature of contents, so that readers may judge upon which topics they care to read.

THE Baker & Taylor Company also has issued and distributed a currency bulletin of six pages, which they purpose to sell to dealers in imprint editions. It gives the titles of 96 books, which discuss this live and vital subject on both sides and on every side, together with the name of the author, size of book and price, and also indicates which side the author advocates. In many cases there are added short criticisms from newspapers or by the compiler, which give an idea of the value of each book as an authority or as to its contents. This bulletin is a summary of the catalogues of many publishers upon this important question, and because it shows at a glance the works which a discussion of the subject has brought forth it is valuable as a ready reference to the bookseller, the student, the public speaker, and others; yet it will be sent free upon request. Neither of these catalogues gives publishers' names.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

R. D. BLACKMORE is now hard at work upon his new novel, which will be entitled "Dariel."

JOSEPH CONRAD'S latest novel, "An Outcast of the Islands," published by D. Appleton & Co., has been included in the Tauchnitz Library.

A ONE-VOLUME edition of George Meredith's "Amazing Marriage" has appeared in London, and during a single week 50,000 copies were sold.

AN illustrated penny "Life of Christ" is being issued by Ernest Nister & Co., Paternoster Row, London, Eng. A specimen copy may be had on application.

W. T. STEAD'S "Penny Poets" project in England is reported to meet with decided success. Over 200,000 copies of the selections from Matthew Arnold's poetry have been sold.

"ORIGINAL editions" of R. L. Stevenson's "The Master of Ballantrae," "The Wrecker," "Island Nights' Entertainments," and "Catriona" are being offered in London at a guinea each.

F. A. RINGLER CO., New York City, have campaign electrotypes for sale for McKinley and Hobart and Bryan and Sewall organizations. They are sending out specimen pages of the cuts, showing sizes and styles.

AN order for fifty-one public school libraries which are soon to be placed in the schools of Minneapolis was given to the St. Paul Book and Stationery Company a short time ago by the Board of Education. Stillwater and Duluth have both placed large orders for public school libraries with the same company.

A "HISTORISCHE BIBLIOTHEK" is to be issued as a supplement to the Historische Zeitschrift, which now appears under new editorship. The "Bibliothek" will consist of single volumes containing monographs. The first volume will be devoted to a biography of the late editor, Herr von Treitschke.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish in the fall sea stories by S. R. Crockett, Gilbert Parker, Harold Frederic, Quiller Couch, and Clark Russell. These stories have already appeared in the Idler, but will be published collectively under the title of "Tales of Our Coast," with illustrations by Frank Brangwyn.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have united, under the title "America and Europe: a study of international relations," "The United States and Great Britain," a North American paper, by David A. Wells; ex-Minister Phelps's sound Brooklyn address on the "Monroe Doctrine," and Carl Schurz's address at the Washington Arbitration Conference, on "Arbitration in International Disputes."

LAWRENCE & BULLEN, London, have in preparation an "Encyclopædia of Sport," the first monthly part of which will appear towards the close of the year. Lord Dunraven will write on yachting; Sir Herbert Maxwell, William Senior, and Mr. Cooke, better known as "John Bickerdyke," will deal with angling. There will be three editors—namely, the Earl of Suffolk, Headley Peek, and F. S. Alfalo.

AT a recent meeting of the Omar Khayyam Club in London, a letter was read written by Swinburne. It told of his earliest acquaintance with the poet's works as translated by Fitzgerald. The first edition of the translation was unsalable at a shilling a copy, and Swinburne and Rossetti bought six books at a penny apiece. On returning next day they found the price had been boomed to twopence. This edition is now very valuable.

THE work by Prof. Copinger on "The Bible and Its Transmission," which is printing at the Clarendon Press, deals historically and bibliographically with the Hebrew and Greek texts, and the Greek, Latin, and other versions of the Bible, both MS. and printed prior to the Reformation. It will be printed, according to the London Athenæum, with types cast from matrices given to the University of Oxford by Bishop Fell before 1687, and will be illustrated with fac-similes of the great codices and important printed editions, which are intended to be the exact size of the originals, and in every case to consist of a whole page.

Camping in the Canadian Rockies.

An Account of Camp Life in the Wilder Parts of the Canadian Rocky Mountains, together with a description of the Region about Banff, Lake Louise, and Glacier, and a sketch of the Early Explorations. By WALTER DWIGHT WILCOX. With 25 full-page photogravures and many illustrations in the text, from photographs by the author. Large 8vo, gilt top, $4.00.

"The author gives graphic descriptions of the adventures of the party, and presents, in a popular manner, the main features of the geology, botany, fauna, and climatic conditions of the mountains.

"The volume should awaken a keen interest in this comparatively unknown region, where sport, scenery, and climate offer such exceptional attractions to the hardy summer traveller and the lover of nature."

The Hastings Chess Tournament Book.

Containing the full official record of the 320 games played by the 22 competitors at this latest International Congress, annotated by a distinguished body of experts, including in their number eight prize winners. Together with biographical sketches of the 22 players, with portraits and autographs of each; the rules under which the Tournament was played; and 200 diagrams of situations, etc. 8vo, net, $1.75.

Some Books That Are Selling

We have pleasure in notifying the trade that by arrangement with SPENCER BLACKETT, of London, we shall publish during the coming week:

MARGARET CARMICHAEL

By CHARLES GIBBON, author of "In Honor Bound," "The Golden Shaft," "A Dead Heart," "For Lack of Gold," "Robin Gray," "What Will the World Say?" etc., etc. Illustrated by A. Burnham Shute. 12mo, paper, Netherland Library, 50 cents; cloth, unique design, $1.25.

ENGLISH PRESS COMMENTS:

"Margaret Carmichael is a true and tender Scots woman, and her lover is all that a lover should be. . . . The characters are natural 'to the nails.' Margaret and Jess, Gavin and David, Bauldie Munro and his ragged friend of the wynd, are very true to life. Jean Scourburn, the litigious landlady, must have had a living prototype." —Athenæum, London.

"About this Gibbon, let me tell you all.
Here is no symptom of Decline and Fall.
You'll find this latest work of busy pen
The best—and not too Scotch for Englishmen;
There's love and villainy—a subtle plot
Well worked out. I might tell you—but I'll not.
Instead, here's sage advice; pray heed it;
Go, get the book at once, and read it!"
—Punch, London.

OTHER ISSUES IN "THE NETHERLAND LIBRARY."

Third Edition, completing Seventh Thousand.

UNDER SEALED ORDERS

By GRANT ALLEN, author of "The Woman Who Did," "The Tents of Shem," etc., etc. Illustrated. Cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents.

"'Under Sealed Orders' will probably be Grant Allen's most widely read book."—Commercial Advertiser, N. Y.

Fifth Edition, completing Twelfth Thousand.

THE COPSFORD MYSTERY

By W. CLARK RUSSELL, author of "An Ocean Free Lance," "The Wreck of the Grosvenor," etc. Handsomely illustrated. Cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents.

Third Edition, completing Ninth Thousand.

AN OCEAN FREE LANCE

By W. CLARK RUSSELL. New edition. Illustrated by Harry L. V. Parkhurst. Cloth, superbly bound, $1.25; paper, 50 cents.

ISSUED IN CLOTH ONLY.

A STABLE FOR NIGHTMARES; OR, WEIRD TALES

By J. SHERIDAN LE FANU, and others. Characteristically illustrated. Large 16mo, cloth, 256 pages, 75 cents.

This book has proved to be one of the most popular of the season, and has been heartily commended by all the critics who have reviewed it. The N. Y. Journal, Philadelphia Public Ledger, N. Y. Commercial Advertiser, Boston Times, The Bookman, and scores of other journals unite in praising it.

THE LURE OF FAME

By CLIVE HOLLAND, author of "My Japanese Wife." With illustration and decorative drawing by George Wharton Edwards. Bound in cloth, blue and gold, $1.00.

"Its title, 'The Lure of Fame,' will suggest something of the thread of the story, but one is not prepared for so tender and sympathetic a picture as those pages reveal, or so close an analysis of human feelings and experiences." —CHARLES DEXTER ALLEN in the Hartford Post.

THE XIth COMMANDMENT

By HALLIWELL SUTCLIFFE. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

"Better worth reading than a solid cord of the ordinary novels one finds upon the counters of the book-stores." —Boston Transcript.

THE BOOK OF THE HOUR.

POLITICAL PARTIES IN THE UNITED STATES

Their History and Influence, 1789-1896. By J. HARRIS PATTON, M.A., Ph.D., author of "Four Hundred Years of American History," "Natural Resources of the United States," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

Every person who wishes to be able to converse intelligently on the attitude of the great political parties towards financial legislation in the past should read this excellent publication.

"Professor Patton's style is deserving of unqualified praise. It is pure, simple, strong, free from mannerism, and singularly easy and graceful."—North American Review.
